Paula A. Kerger is President and CEO of PBS, the nation's largest non-commercial media organization. Under Kerger's leadership, PBS has grown its audiences across genres and platforms and consistently presented high-quality, groundbreaking content that delivers on the founding mission of public television — to educate, inspire and entertain the American people. She has made particularly strong commitments to PBS's work in children's education. Join us as she shares how PBS has met the challenges of the last year and what's in store for 2021 and beyond.
