GENERAL MANAGER MESSAGE

September brings new shows from PBS, a new season of “Wyoming Chronicle,” and, possibly, our next round of debates. Because of the disruption in everyone’s lives caused by COVID-19, we cancelled our traditional June Membership drive and, instead, have scheduled a short drive for the first week of September. In addition to repeating some of our most popular fundraising shows, we will bring you new programs, like a special on “The Music of Peggy Lee” (on August 30) and “Riverdance.”

Also starting in September is a repeat of the groundbreaking “Ken Burns: The War.” New series like “1900 Island” and the third season of the popular “Today’s Wild West” also premiere in September.

Among the new “Wyoming Chronicle” shows in September is a story on weird and surprising Wyoming stories from the State Archives.

WyomingPBS is trusted by supporters of the Republican, Democratic, and third parties to produce fair and unbiased debates. In September or October, we plan to bring you debates featuring candidates for both the US House of Representative and the US Senate seats. The PBS NewsHour will air a Presidential Debate on September 29.

Finally, as long time Members know, we receive about 42% of our income from the State of Wyoming. And, like all other state agencies, those funds have been cut by 10%. We take pride in being good stewards of the State’s (and your Membership) dollars. So, we are always looking for ways to reduce expenses without reducing our service to the State.

That is why, starting in October, you’ll receive a redesigned program guide. Our guide costs about $20,000 a year to print and mail to you. The new design reduces those costs by about 25%. You can read more below.

Thank you for watching (and streaming,) and thank you for being part of the WyomingPBS family.

Terry Dugas
General Manager

In light of recent mandatory budget cuts, WyomingPBS has been looking at ways in which to cut costs and improve efficiencies while maintaining the important services the station provides to the people of Wyoming. To that end, a newly designed, smaller program guide will be rolled out beginning in October. The new design focuses on the primetime schedules for both the primary and “Encore” channels along with a few program highlights. Additional information about programs, events and educational resources can be accessed at our newly redesigned website at wyomingpbs.org.

THE AGE OF NATURE

NARRATED BY UMA THURMAN

Coming in October
Wyoming Educators and students started a new school year. This school year is different than the start of the school year we are all used to and WyomingPBS will continue to be a support system for educators as they navigate the changes. Distance and virtual learning will be common methods of learning.

As Educators look for online resources for their students, there are six new resources in the WyomingPBS Education Collection on WyomingPBS LearningMedia.

Atomic Fracking - Students will learn about the history of nuclear energy and how it was once suggested as a means to complete many projects that we would consider hazardous today.

Compost Worms - Students will learn about the background knowledge of composting, and set up their own composting bins.

Japanese Internment in Wyoming - Students will learn about the history of the Japanese Internment Camp in Wyoming, Heart Mountain.

Prisoner of War - Students will learn about Prisoner of War camps in Wyoming, how Cheryl O’Brien conducted her research, and why Prisoners of War were held in Wyoming.

State of Equality - Students will learn about women’s suffrage in Wyoming, and understand why Wyoming guaranteed women’s right to vote.

Wyoming’s Native Americans, the Bozeman Trail - Students will learn about the “Clash of Cultures” based on the WyomingPBS documentary The Bozeman Trail.

All lessons in the WyomingPBS Education Collection can be found at wyomingpbs.org/learningmedia, and are written by Wyoming Educators for Wyoming Educators.
