The Adventures of Mary and Cat

By Lillian
On a bright sunny morning Mary and Cat woke up. They asked their parents to go on a hiking adventure, and so they did. When they went on the hike at Zion they saw big rocks and they were red, orange, brown and gray and some were small rocks. There was a winding river with clear water.
Then there was a gust of wind and blew the map away. But Mary and Cat didn’t give up.
Then they had an idea. Mary grabbed the binoculars out of the backpack. Then Mary saw the map at the hiking spot. So they hiked up a little more because there were three paths. They chose the second path and led them to the map.
They read the map, Mary and Cat decided together the quickest and safest way to go home. When Cat and Mary got home safely they had pizza.
