The Letters Zoe Wrote
By Nikhita
With a little understanding, we can all get along.
Once upon a time there was a mouse named Zoe. Zoe had heard the king asking the Pied Piper to play the flute to get rid of the mice. Zoe wrote letters to save her family. These are the letters Zoe wrote.
Dear Pied Piper,

I heard you’re going to play your flute to get rid of mice. I beg you not to do this, we’re innocent creatures.

Zoe

Dear Zoe,

Mice aren’t innocent. Long ago, my parents threw me a 6th party, and invited mice. One evil mouse set the house on fire. I lost my parents. I then hated mice. I learned to play the flute, to drive mice out of kingdoms! I’m getting my flute cleaned at Geppetto’s shop, then I’ll be there.

Pied Piper
Dear Geppetto,

May I buy the flute you're cleaning? I need to save my family.

Zoe

Dear Zoe,

My son accidentally sold it to Cinderella.

Geppetto
Dear Cinderella,

I hear you bought a flute. I need it to protect my family. May I have the flute?

Zoe

---

Dear Zoe,

I will give it to you if you convince the shoemakers to work. They say that they are too sad to work, and I need some new slippers.

Cinderella
Dear Shoemaker,

Please, find in your heart to make slippers for Cinderella.

Zoe

Dear Zoe,

I'm too sad to work. Years ago, I threw a 6th Birthday Party for my son. We invited mice. One mouse caught his tail on the birthday candle and accidentally caught the house on fire, I never found my son.

Mr. Piper (The Shoemaker)
The next day, a letter arrived to the king.

Dear King,

I'm sorry, I can't play the flute. A mouse named "Zoe" brought me back to my parents. I don't hate mice anymore. My parents and I now make shoes. I will have Zoe bring you some new shoes. She wants you to get along. Maybe you can all can live...

Happily Ever After
Pied Piper