Learn from Home Curriculum Returns January 4, 2021

MontanaPBS will continue to support educators and families through their Learn at Home broadcast curriculum and provide corresponding free digital resources into the New Year beginning January 4, 2021. This new schedule will continue through the end of the school year on June 4, 2021.

The daytime weekday schedule is dedicated to Montana state standards-aligned educational programming provided by MontanaPBS and the Office of Public Instruction. The 6:30am to 5:30pm weekday schedule includes specific blocks of time for pre-K through 8th grade levels and covers subjects including language arts, social studies, science and math. MontanaPBS' regular primetime schedule is not affected by this change.

“We’ve revamped our Learn at Home website after a year of learning what works best for our educators and families,” said Laura Dick, Digital Content and Marketing Manager at MontanaPBS. “We’ve worked closely with our education team to gather together new curriculum offerings that are even easier to access from our webpage.”

MontanaPBS has also curated corresponding free digital content for the Learn at Home programming in order to better serve educators across the state. Aligned to the same Montana content standards and topic areas as the broadcast service, MontanaPBS has created and shared the following free resources for teachers:

- Distance Learning Webpage: View weekly broadcast schedules as well as articles and activities created and/or vetted by the MontanaPBS Education team, other public media organizations and other trusted education partners. Visit montanapbs.org/learnathome.
- Digital Media Collections: View and download full resource collections on PBS LearningMedia that correspond with the TV broadcast schedule. Collections include curated media and lesson plans, sorted by grade level and subject area. Visit montana.pbslearningmedia.org.
