Live From Home II: A Montana Music, Home Video Special Over a dozen Montana musicians perform from their homes

In light of social distancing restrictions and cancelled musical performances this summer, MontanaPBS is committed to creating and nurturing community in online spaces. MTPBS has partnered with a second group of over 12 Montana musicians to record a song and share it with the community from the comfort of their homes in an effort to unite our communities through the joy of music.

“Live From Home II: A Montana Music, Home Video Special,” presents music from Luke Dowler, Bruce Anfinson, Tom Catmull, Julia Slovarp and Carrie Krause, Springhill, Jessica Roky Kilroy, Wilbur Rehman, Jenn Adams, Andre Floyd, Dan Dubuque, Joan Zen, John Roberts and Big Sky City Lights. John Floridis, host of the Montana Public Radio program Musician’s Spotlight, hosts and performs.

This program will air Thursday, August 6, 2020 at 7PM MT on-air and will also be live streaming on the MontanaPBS Facebook page as well as montanapbs.org/live. The program will air again August 8 at 10pm MT and August 10 at 2am MT.

“During this time of closures and cancellations surrounding COVID-19, there were so many musicians that we wanted to connect with and celebrate as a state. We were able to feature a wonderful group of musicians in the first iteration of this program, and this continuation will support an even larger part of our community through the celebration of musical performance,” said Ray Ekness, Director of the Broadcast Media Center in Missoula, MT.

Additional information and the full video for this program will be made available at montanapbs.org/livefromhome.
