Audubon
The iconic 19th-century painter and naturalist John James Audubon explored the American frontier in search of “the feathered tribes” he loved and studied. A self-taught artist and ornithologist, Audubon left a legacy of art and science that made him famous in his lifetime and endures to this day. About 1820 Audubon decided to make a comprehensive study of North American birds. He traveled widely in the American South, drawing every known species.

Wednesday, September 6 at 8 pm

The Latino Americans
Examine the rich and varied history of Latinos in the United States. Benjamin Bratt narrates. Survey the history and people from 1565–1880 as the first Spanish explorers enter North America, the U.S. expands into territories in the Southwest that had been home to Native Americans, and English and Spanish colonies, and as the Mexican-American War strips Mexico of half its territories by 1848.

Weekends with Yankee
Named for the long-running publication enjoyed by readers for more than 80 years, this 13-part magazine-style program takes viewers on an insider’s exploration of the cities, countryside locales, and far-flung places in quaint and scenic New England. The series is hosted by author and explorer Richard Wiese and Amy Traverso, a senior food editor at Yankee magazine. Get your “all-access” behind-the-scenes pass to the hidden New England that only locals know.

Tuesdays & Thursdays at Noon
THE VIETNAM WAR

This month, SOPTV features Ken Burns’ and Lynn Novick’s 10-part, 18-hour documentary series: The Vietnam War. Ten years in the making, Vietnam tells the epic story of one of the most consequential, divisive, and controversial events in American history. The series features 80 witnesses, from Americans who fought in the war, to those who opposed the war, and combatants and civilians from North and South Vietnam.

As you know, for the last two years SOPTV has told the stories of southern Oregon heroes with two seasons of My Story of Service. We also produced six Local Focus specials about veterans issues, including an interview with Ken Burns and Lynn Novick, which re-airs on Thursday, September 21 at 9:30 pm and Local Focus: A Conversation About the Vietnam War, which premieres on September 28 at 10 pm.

Concurrent with the television broadcast, Vietnam will be available on PBS.org and PBS apps for IOS, Android, Roku, and Chromecast. The final five episodes will be available to stream beginning September 24th. All episodes will be accessible until the series begins rebroadcast on Tuesdays at 9 pm, October 3 through November 28.

If you have SOPTV Passport, you can view the entire series (ten programs) beginning September 17. The series will also be available in Spanish and Vietnamese on streaming.

ELLIS FEINSTEIN: A LIFE WELL LIVED

On August 13, over 75 people gathered to remember and celebrate the life of Ellis Feinstein. Ellis was very active in southern Oregon’s broadcast community from 1954 to 1978, serving as the Director of Engineering for a group of radio and television stations in southern Oregon and northern California. In 1978 Ellis organized an investment group to buy Scala Antenna and moved the company to Medford. Scala would later become one of the leading antenna manufacturers in the industry.

When Ellis retired in 1998, he became involved with SOPTV and served as Chairman of the Board from 2001–2004 (and returned in 2010–2013 for another term as a Director). During this time SOPTV converted its broadcast technology to the new digital standard as mandated by the FCC. Ellis’ expertise helped significantly, and it was only fitting that Ellis flipped the switch to begin our digital television transmission in 2003 to Rogue Valley viewers.

It was during his time as chair that he hired me in the summer of 2001. Ellis’ business acumen, engineering expertise, and passion for our television service is well known and much appreciated. As was his wry sense of humor — our board meetings have never been the same!

Our sincerest regards to the Feinstein family for their loss. SOPTV also mourns the passing of Ellis. A life well lived indeed!

Rare: Creatures of the Photo Ark
Renowned National Geographic photographer Joel Sartore's Photo Ark project is a digital “collection” of the world's mammals, fish, amphibians, birds, reptiles, and insects. This captivating three-part series follows Sartore as he documents threatened species at zoos, in nature preserves, and in the wild. Mon–Wed., Sept. 18–20 at 10 pm

Robert Bly: A Thousand Years of Joy
Bly developed as a writer with an unswerving belief in the importance of poetry both to his own life and to American culture in general. Follow Bly from being a Mid-western farmer's son to radical anti-Vietnam War activist to “wild man” of the 1990s men's movement and author of Iron John: A Book About Men. Tuesday, September 19 at 11 pm

Nature’s Great Race

Follow three groups of animals — caribou, zebra, and elephants — as they face the immense challenges of migration in places around the world. Captured in real-time, the program gives unparalleled access to the great obstacles facing each individual herd, from treacherous terrain to merciless predators, as they risk danger and death in a race for their lives. In breathtaking spectacles, the documentary gives a front-row seat to the ultimate test of survival.

America Reframed: Hannah Ranch
Charismatic Colorado rancher Kirk Hanna believed a balance could be maintained between the need for land conservation, traditional ranching and the demands of a growing urban population. Hanna became a leader in the environmental ranching movement that set out to protect the West from the relentless encroachment of development and misuse.
