In this time of giving thanks and reflection, the staff and I at Southern Oregon PBS extend our sincere appreciation for investing in what we do.

It’s been quite a year:

- Local content like US AS WE ARE, ALL ACROSS OREGON, OREGON FIELD GUIDE, OREGON ART BEAT and an episode of AMERICA OUTDOORS WITH BARATUNDE THURSTON helped us better understand who we are as Oregonians and the amazing place where we live;

- For the 20th year, PBS has been named #1 in public trust (74% of Americans say PBS is the most-trusted institution in the country);

- We enjoyed new seasons of ALL CREATURES GREAT & SMALL, FINDING YOUR ROOTS, ANTIQUES ROAD-SHOW, MASTERPIECE, FRONTLINE, NOVA, NATURE and so many other favorites;

- We launched our program feed on LocalNow and Hulu + Live TV;

- Both our governing Board and Community Advisory Board have welcomed new members;

- We have made long-term investments in our broadcasting infrastructure;

- We are stable and financially sound.

So much of that has been made possible by your contributions to SOPBS. Thank you.

May the good things in life be yours in abundance, especially in the coming new year.

Sincerely,

Phil Meyer, SOPBS CEO

This six-part limited series explores universal themes of resilience in the face of trauma and loss. It follows Bezhig Little Bird as she embarks on a path to find her birth family and uncover the hidden truth of her family history.

Removed from her home in Long Pine Reserve in Saskatchewan, Bezhig Little Bird is adopted into a Montréal Jewish family at age five, becoming Esther Rosenblum. Now in her 20s, Bezhig longs for the family she lost and is willing to sacrifice everything to find them. Her search lands her in the Canadian Prairies, worlds apart from everything she knows.

As she begins to track down her siblings, she unravels the mystery behind her adoption and discovers that her apprehension was connected to a racist government policy, now known as the Sixties Scoop. Bezhig’s sense of identity shatters, and she is forced to reckon with who she is and who she wants to become.

“It is a powerful narrative that not only engages and pulls on your heartstrings, but also educates on a profoundly disturbing time in North American history that is rarely portrayed,” said Germaine Sweet, Managing Director, Content Acquisitions at PBS Distribution. “In addition... this series was delivered by a wealth of Indigenous talent both in front of and behind the camera.”

The recent winner of the coveted Audience Award at the 2023 SERIES MANIA Festival in Lille, France, LITTLE BIRD was filmed in and around Winnipeg, in Brokenhead Ojibway Nation on Treaty 1 territory and in Sioux Valley Dakota Nation.

On January 28, 2017, leaders of the Victoria, Texas, Muslim community, Abe Ajrami, Omar Rachid, and Dr. Shahid Hashmi, watched as their mosque burned to the ground. This original docuseries follows the aftermath and investigations into the fire to answer the question of how a multifaith community can come together to turn against hate. Ajrami, Rachid, and Hashmi seek to restore their sacred space, while reflecting on the journeys they took to find acceptance as Muslim Americans in a conservative Christian small town. The day after the fire, as the leaders survey the site of the destroyed mosque, over 500 Victorians gather to stage a peace rally and express their support. Within a week, a GoFundMe campaign created by Rachid to rebuild the mosque goes viral and raises more than $1 million, and the story of Victoria makes headlines around the world as a parable of togetherness in dark times.

Eventually, the camera crews leave and Victoria fades from the national spotlight, and the south Texas town starts to face difficult questions about its own identity, particularly when a local resident is arrested for burning the mosque. Members of its tight-knit community — activists, preachers, worshippers, students, teachers, and leaders — gather to grapple with the town's deep-seated religious, political, racial, and economic rifts, seeking a collective way forward. The series weaves together community member interviews and newscast reportings of the incident, as well as animated sequences based on official transcripts, trial sketches, and eyewitness accounts, to paint a picture of the harrowing events that took place in Victoria, and how its people came together afterward. The series offers viewers an intimate, real-time look at the raw emotions of those involved as events unfold.

In June 1972, Title IX, a small 37-word provision in the 1972 Education Amendments, was designed to ensure that all people — regardless of gender — have equal opportunity to federally-funded programs. This historic bill opened the floodgates for young girls to participate in sanctioned sports activities nationwide.

Through the eyes of women athletes who changed the system, this new two-hour documentary celebrates 50 years of female excellence in sports. Hosted by sports icon and champion of equality Billie Jean King, the film weaves together the first-hand stories of eight icons to discuss how Title IX and their own achievements forever changed the course of women’s sports.

The interviews pair an athlete at the top of her game today with an athlete whose achievements helped pave the way for those who followed. The pairings include Billie Jean King and flag football star Diana Flores; basketball legend Nancy Lieberman and Olympic gold medalist Chloe Kim; soccer star and World Cup winner Julie Foudy and Olympic gold medalist Suni Lee; and track and field world-record holder Jackie Joyner-Kersee with four-time tennis Grand Slam winner Naomi Osaka.

These far-reaching and dynamic conversations showcase the perseverance, pain, and progress of women who dared to challenge the system, defy conventional norms and change the games we love forever. Groundbreakers celebrates the advancements of women in sports and society, while also revealing the generational mentorship and community building that has fueled the progress made alongside the ongoing pursuit of equality for women everywhere.

Spotlight

Sundays, December 3 – 17 at 8pm

British historian Lucy Worsley turns her powers of investigation to the mysterious figure of Agatha Christie, uncovering the story of one of the most famous, complex — and misunderstood — women of the 20th century. How did this seemingly conventional British matron write so convincingly about the dark art of murder?

December 3: Cat Among Pigeons
Worsley investigates the complex factors that shaped the dark imagination of a refined Devonshire lady, discovering family secrets and a childhood haunted by a sinister figure. Focusing on the first third of Christie’s life, Worsley unearths the surprising roots of the author’s most compelling themes, the inspiration for some of her greatest creations, and the secrets that the enigmatic Christie kept carefully hidden from public view.

December 10: Destination Unknown
On the evening of December 3, 1926, Agatha Christie left her home. The next morning, her car was found abandoned, balanced precariously on the edge of a quarry. Christie's coat, suitcase and driver’s license were all inside, but the author herself was gone. What followed was the most extensive manhunt yet seen in Britain. Was this a publicity stunt? A hoax? Or was she the victim of foul play? Ten days later, Christie was discovered in a hotel in Harrogate, claiming to have lost her memory.

December 17: Unfinished Portrait
Worsley examines Agatha Christie’s later life and discovers how, amid the turbulent social and political change of the 1930s and 1940s, newfound personal happiness ushered in a golden age for her writing. In 1930, recovering from a personal crisis, Christie traveled to the Middle East. On an archaeological dig in Iraq, she met Max Mallowan, and, despite an age difference of 14 years, they fell in love and married. Soon, Christie entered into the most prolific and successful chapter of her career.

Learn how to prepare the perfect Christmas dinner with Dame Mary Berry in this merry new special filled to the brim with her time-tested recipes. Mary provides the only guide you'll ever need for a festive feast as she and some special friends show how to plan, shop and prep for a delicious, stress-free day.

She begins with a deliciously simple Stilton and Sage Mini Scone Canapé, followed by her traditional Christmas dinner of Lemon and Herb Roast Turkey with all the trimmings, Crispy Roast Potatoes, Ruby Red Cabbage and Apricot and Chestnut Stuffing.

To complete the feast, Mary shares two desserts. Her traditional British Christmas Pudding goes back to medieval times; the dessert made from dried fruit and nuts served alongside a boozy cream. Topping things off is a showstopping Festive Trifle with layers of custard, cream, sponge cakes and pear, topped with spun sugar.
