Your Support Changes Lives

Because of your generosity, PBS North Carolina changes lives by providing joy, connection, insight and creativity.

Our viewers say it best. Here's what PBS North Carolina means to them:

PBS has been in my life since I was a child watching Sesame Street. It has inspired me to learn and expand my mind. Nature, art, literature and science are my passions, and PBS gives all that and more to me every day. Thank you!

I believe in public television. Supporting my local station is the best way to show that.

We’ve contributed for many years because we know how important public TV is for the community.

Thank you for being the one place with programs that are both beautiful and educational. They are a breath of fresh air.

I’ve been hooked on PBS for over 40 years and never get tired of watching your shows. They are the best!

STORIES THAT FOSTER UNDERSTANDING

PBS North Carolina expands minds, offers engaging programs and celebrates different perspectives. You change lives by supporting stories that make people feel seen and understood. As you’ll see in Hiding in Plain Sight, a two-part documentary about the mental health crisis among American youth premiering on June 27, stories of the most vulnerable in our society expand our understanding of the world around us.

Thank you for your contributions to PBS North Carolina. Find more ways to support PBS North Carolina and change lives at pbsnc.org/support.
New Daniel Tiger Special

In the special Daniel Visits a New Neighborhood, Daniel takes his first train ride to visit his new friend Juan Carlos. When his journey does not go as planned, Daniel learns that no matter what he does or where he goes, being together with friends and family is what matters most. Don’t miss the premiere on Monday, June 20, at 9:30 AM, on PBS NC.
