Description:	Join astrophysicist Janna Levin on a mind-bending journey to the frontiers of black hole research.	Discover how scientists may soon be able to "see" a black hole and are discovering new clues to the strangest and most extreme objects in the universe.	During a time of war and social tumult, a young generation fights for equality in the fields, on campuses, and in the culture and claims a new identity: Asian Americans.	In Italy, Allied forces are stalled in the mountains south of Rome, unable to break through the German lines at Monte Cassino. The killing goes on all winter and spring as the enemy manages to fight off repeated Allied attacks. Ken Burns's The War, Episode 4: Pride of Our Nation (Jun 1944-Aug 1944) (Cont.)
Description:	Explore the basic principles of flight to understand how animals become airborne, and see the special techniques each creature uses to overcome gravity.	How did water arrive on Earth and come to underpin every aspect of existence, from dragonflies to deserts in bloom to human life?	Learn from Senator John McCain, playwright and activist Anna Deavere Smith, poets Reginald Dwayne Betts and Li-Young Lee, host Elisa New, and four exonerated prisoners about poetry's special resonance for those behind bars. / In the early hours of June 6, 1944, D-Day, the invasion of France begins. It is the bloodiest day in American history since the Civil War, and the Allies succeed in tearing a 45-mile gap in Hitler's vaunted Atlantic Wall. Ken Burns's The War, Episode 5: FUBAR (Sep 1944-Dec 1944) (Cont.)

Description:	Many animals take to the skies for a split second, but to stay there, the planet's strongest flyers have to push the laws of physics right to the edge. Explore the extremes of true flight: power, acceleration, top speed, maneuverability, and endurance.	Travel into the past to see how water may have driven our own evolution—and created civilizations.	Supreme Court Justice Elena Kagan, playwright Tony Kushner, and poets Mark Doty and Marilyn Chin celebrate the work of Walt Whitman. / By September 1944 on the Western Front, American and British troops mass on the German border; Allied commanders gamble on a risky scheme to drop airborne troops behind enemy lines; and, in the Pacific, General MacArthur is poised to invade the Philippines. Description:	The sky is a crowded world where survival depends not only on beating gravity or mastering flight, but also on outflying the competition.	Earth's changing water cycle—and a globalized movement toward water for profit—is forcing changes in humans' reliance on water.	Follow a team of experts as they solve the enduring mystery of exactly where Hannibal and his troops crossed the Alps to launch a surprise attack on Rome.	After three years of fighting, bad news from the War Department seems endless, and Hitler launches a counterattack in the Ardennes forest of Belgium and Luxembourg.
