In Their Own Words: Muhammad Ali

Description:	New research sheds light on the lives of little-known animals that spend their entire lives in the Gulf of Mexico's cold, deep waters. / Four girls design a set of experiments for three horses that quantify their fitness, stride length, and conformation, and devise a test to measure how smoothly each horse moves.	Hear Apollo astronauts and engineers tell the inside story of how the first mission to the Moon, Apollo 8, pioneered groundbreaking technologies that would pave the way to land a man on the Moon and win the space race. This show contains material that may be sensitive for some students. Teachers should exercise discretion in evaluating whether this show is suitable for their class.	Hour three of the series examines the years 1877-1896, a transitional period that saw visions of a "New South" set the stage for the rise of Jim Crow and the undermining of Reconstruction's legal and political legacy.	The turn of the century is known as the "nadir" of race relations, when white supremacy was ascendant and African Americans faced both physical and psychological oppression.	Follow Muhammad Ali's path from a gym in Louisville to boxing successes, conversion to Islam, opposition to the draft, exile from the ring, comeback fights, Parkinson's disease, and his inspirational reemergence at the Atlanta Olympics.
