LEROY
MAGIC PENCIL

Jagger Staten
Leroy had a magic pencil. He didn’t know it was magic until one of his doodles rolled right off the paper.
It was just a squiggle but it reminded him of a ball of yarn just rolling on his floor. It needed a cat, so he drew one.
Oh no! The cat is hissing. It is scary. Leroy thought he should draw a dog to scare the cat away.

Oh no! The cat and dog are chasing each other. The dog broke Leroy’s mother’s lamp.
Leroy has an idea. He needs something to catch the dog: a dog catcher! Oh no! The dog catcher is catching the neighbor’s dog.
Leroy has to think fast. He draws a bear to chase away the dog catcher. The bear chases the dog catcher up a tree.
How can Leroy chase the bear away? Leroy has an idea! He can draw a dinosaur to scare the bear away.
Oh no! The dinosaur is destroying the city. This is a big problem. How can Leroy fix it? Leroy has the best idea yet.
He draws an eraser to erase his mistakes. Then, he draws a lamp for his mother.
