The Girl That Took a Panda

By: Levi Thornton, IV
The small, gentle panda laid down at the end of a long day. He had been eating a bamboo and playing with fellow pandas. Then a little girl came into the woods and grabbed the baby panda.
When the mother came back, she was very sad. The little girl went to her father and said, "Papa! Papa! I grabbed a little panda." He says, "No, put it back! The mother will come and attack if she finds out you took it!"
The little girl ran into the woods and was frightened because the mother panda was back. She yelled, "Papa! Papa! Mama! Mama! The panda is back already."
The panda chased her through the woods to her house. She ran inside, and her mom said, "What happened?!"
The panda ripped off the door and attacked the little girl. She screamed in terror, and ran around the room. The mother panda chased her. The girl ran out of the house and into the woods. The baby panda was still there. Mama panda saw it, and the girl ran back to her own house. Her dad said, "You will pay for all the damage that has been done."

The End

The moral of the story is: Don't mess with a mama bear's baby. This could happen to you...